MARRIED AT FIRST SIGHT DRAMA: CHERYL BETRAYED AGAIN!

CONTENTS

probably don't need to tell you it was Valentine's Day this week. It was hard to escape the incessant chatter about 'the most romantic day of the year'. I say phooey to that. Perhaps I've never quite got over the year my boyfriend (at the time) took me to a cosy Italian joint, where we were ushered to a table in the back. He looked pleased as punch. 'Well?' he asked expectantly. 'Um, nice,' I said. 'Don't you remember? We came here on our first date... I fell in love with you right at this very table.' Sweet, right? Except I'd never stepped foot in the place before. Cue awkward silence. For anyone else not feeling the love this year, check out our feature on the hot men lighting up our screens (p36). It will cheer you up – promise!

THE GUESTS OF HONOUR

The royal guests were beaming, but starstruck A-listers were told by organisers 'no selfies' with Kate and Wills. Boo!

'BAFTA has sadly run out of actors, so I've been roped in,' Wills awkwardly joked as he presented an award

STARS SPARKLE AT THE LONDON RED CARPET DO

The temperature in London was certainly on the chilly side, but the 70th British Academy of Film and Television Arts Awards ceremony at the Royal Albert Hall was the hottest ticket in town. Hollywood royalty and IRL royalty collided, as a galaxy of stars turned up for the BAFTAs on February 12, including guests of honour Prince William and his beautiful wife, Catherine the Duchess of Cambridge.

As Duchess Kate turned heads in her figure-hugging, off-the-shoulder Alexander McQueen gown, Emma Stone, Michelle

Alleyes were on Kate! 'She sure does take my breath away,' gushed one fan

Emily Blunt missed out on the Best Actress award, but luckily hubby John Krasinski was on hand to keep her smiling!

[Ryan Gosling] elevates everything he touches, Emma gushed in her acceptance speech

Penélope gave off some serious Oscars vibes in her golden gown

Michelle might not be taking home an award, but she's still a winner in that silver mini!

'They would have gone, "No, Mum. That's a rude dress,"' Nic jokes of her daughters' thoughts on her gown

Dev says he perfected his Aussie twang by 'watching Australian MasterChef!'

Williams and Penélope Cruz all stunned on the red carpet. And while our gal Nicole Kidman flew solo at the glittering bash (hubby Keith was busy performing up a storm at the Grammys across the Atlantic), we're sure having her handsome Lion co-star Dev Patel on her arm for the evening helped ease the pain! For his efforts, Dev took home the Best Supporting Actor prize for Lion, which also took out the Adapted Screenplay category.

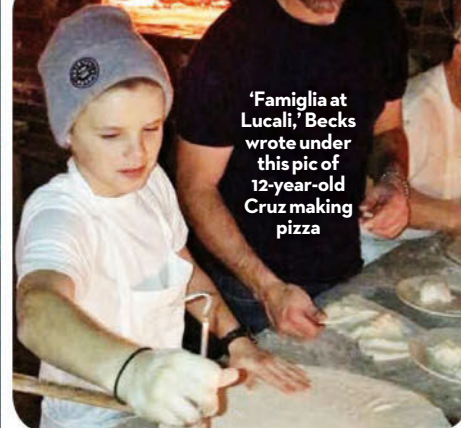

La La Land swept the board awards-wise, nabbing a whopping five prizes, but it was the film's gorgeous star Emma – in her Chanel dress and pants combo – who almost broke the internet when she gave her ex Andrew Garfield a very lingering hug after winning the Best Actress gong... Ooh la la!

SCANDAL AFTER SCANDAL

The former soccer midfielder is also facing fresh allegations that his H&M clothing range is manufactured in a sweat shop, which he denies.

With his good-guy reputation at risk, David is setting out to show the world he's the ultimate family man

'Famiglia at Lucali,' Becks wrote under this pic of 12-year-old Cruz making pizza

'Bedtime reading... sweet dreams,' shared the star

THE STAR GOES INTO CHARM OFFENSIVE

Since touching down in New York for wife Victoria's unveiling of her latest collection at Fashion Week on February 12, David Beckham, 41, has been bombarding Instagram with cute snaps of his kids. 'Keeping the littlest ones busy whilst mum works on the collection,' he captioned one pic.

But one person has been missing from the family album – Victoria. The couple's marriage has been put to the test thanks to David's boozy outing with Poppy Delevingne, and the star has also been forced to deny allegations he used his charity work to score a knighthood. So will his charm campaign be enough to get him back in good graces? Time will tell.

Jen & Justin's BIRTHDAY GETAWAY

Justin Theroux certainly knows the way to a girl's heart! The Hollywood hunk gave wifey Jennifer Aniston a special treat for her 48th birthday on February 11, whisking her away to her favourite resort in Los Cabos. 'HBDJ,' the 45-year-old actor captioned a cute couple selfie.

The couple are clearly as smitten as ever

Lucky Jen was whisked away to Mexico for her 48th birthday. Yes, she really is 48!

It's no secret that Jen has a soft spot for the Mexican retreat. She's often stayed there with her BFF Courteney Cox, who – along with her beau Johnny McDaid – joined the pair on their latest trip.

Justin spent most of last year away, working on projects in Melbourne and Germany, but he's been working hard at keeping the spark alive. 'She is the last person I talk to when I go to bed and [the] first person I talk to when I wake up,' he gushes of his wife. And Jen clearly feels the same way! 'Justin is the funniest person I've met,' she says. 'He is the life of the party.' Aww!

The former model with her godfather Prince Charles in 2003

Tara was on hand to comfort Kate Middleton when she and William briefly split in 2007. 'He'll be back, don't worry,' Tara told her

Just two weeks before her untimely demise, a frail Tara was spotted outside her South Kensington flat

Tara's TRAGIC LIFE

British socialite Tara Palmer-Tomkinson has passed away. Found in her plush London flat on February 8, the 45-year-old was diagnosed with a non-malignant brain tumour in January 2016, but also fought a long and very public battle with drug addiction over the years. 'I'm not the person I was,' the former It girl said in her final interview last November. 'I'm much calmer. The party world scares me.'

Tara was very close to her godfather, Prince Charles. 'We are deeply saddened and our thoughts are so much with the family,' says Charles. The socialite often skied with the royals, and was a source of support to princes William and Harry following the death of their mother Princess Diana in 1997.

British celebs took to social media to pay tribute to the popular one-time model and TV host, but it was her sister, author Santa Montefiore, who expressed the close-knit family's pain via Twitter. 'My darling sister. I miss you.' Rest in peace, Tara.

SHE WAS STRUGGLING

In a TV interview following her death, close friend Ivan Massow said that his pal had become 'dangerously underweight' and 'frequently' fell off the wagon.

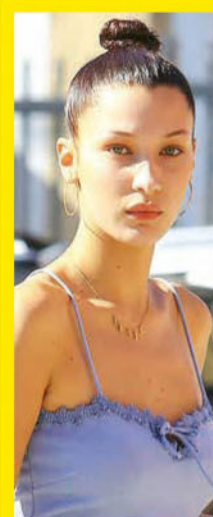

Selena & The Weeknd

HEADING FOR A FALL

Eyebrows were raised when Selena and Abel failed to walk the Grammys red carpet together - perhaps signalling his reluctance to go public with their romance

Selena Gomez's relationship with Abel 'The Weeknd' Tesfaye is in trouble! 'He's starting to feel suffocated by Selena,' dishes a pal amid news she's desperate to join the singer, 27, on tour. 'She's paranoid he'll be tempted to stray,' says the pal. The fling has cost Sel, 24, her place in Taylor Swift's (inset) girl squad. 'Taylor isn't taking any of Selena's calls right now,' tells a source. 'Selena's trying to play the falling-out as no big deal, but it hurts. She knows that she and Abel might not last - and then what?'

BELLA: 'IT'S BEEN HARD'

Meanwhile, Abel's ex Bella Hadid has opened up about their painful split. 'It was my first break-up and so public,' reveals the 20-year-old model. 'You might think I handled it so well but it's always in your heart and you always feel it very heavily. It's been hard.' Poor Bella...

HOW THIN IS TOO THIN?

THE PRICE OF FAME IS TOO HIGH FOR THESE EVER-SHRINKING STARS

She's just wrapped filming for three upcoming action flicks, so it's no surprise that Ruby Rose has undergone a body transformation. But when the DJ-turned-actress stepped out in New York on February 8, she was looking more trim than toned. 'Probably three or four days a week we did sniper training, then the other days were just exercise,' Ruby, 30, admits of her intense training regimen for xXx: Return of Xander Cage.

Gigi Hadid, 21, also had fans concerned when she hit the runway for the TOMMYXGIGI show on February 8 looking tinier than ever. Tommy Hilfiger was accused of fat-shaming the beauty in 2015, and the model has been dropping weight since.

Other slim stars have been slammed for their unhealthy approaches, including Kendall Jenner, 21, who painted her lounge room 'Baker-Miller Pink'. '[It] is the only colour scientifically proven to calm you and suppress your appetite,' she says. 'I was like, "I need this colour in my house."' No, you don't, Kenny...

RUBY'S SCARY NEW LOOK

Stepping out in her stomach-baring crop on February 8, Ruby was almost unrecognisable from her former athletic self.

Mama Madge MEET MY TWINS!

'3 beauties!' Madge captioned this pic of daughter Lourdes, 20, with the twins

After weeks of speculation, Madonna, 58, has taken to Instagram to confirm her latest adoption. 'I have completed the process of adopting twin sisters from Malawi and am overjoyed that they are now part of our family,' the singer captioned the adorable photo of four-year-old Estere and Stelle. The singer's adopted son David Banda and daughter Mercy James, both 11, were also born in Malawi.

The La La Land star has never introduced his daughters, Esmeralda and Amada, to his father (inset)

Ryan reveals

MY GIRLS DON'T KNOW THEIR GRANDPA

Ryan Gosling says that family is the most important thing in his life, but the sentiment doesn't extend to his father. 'None of the Goslings [on his dad's side] have met his little girls. Even his own dad,' claims an insider.

The actor's relationship with his dad Thomas has been strained since his parents' divorce and now that Ryan, 36, has started his own brood, it seems he's distanced himself even more.

'[Ryan] wouldn't talk to him for years,' adds the insider. 'It was really hard on [Thomas], not speaking to his boy.'

THIS WEEK

It's a tough time for little Suri, who has lost both her grandmother and great-grandmother in the same week

Double tragedy

SURI LOSES HER GRANDPARENTS

Just weeks before her 11th birthday, Suri Cruise is grieving the loss of two close relatives who passed away within days of one another. Suri's mum Katie Holmes, 38, paid tribute to her beloved grandmother - Suri's great grandma - in a touching Instagram post on February 11. 'My beautiful grandma became our guardian angel today... I miss her very much, but I see her beautiful soul shining bright in the eyes of her great grandchildren who she loved deeply.'

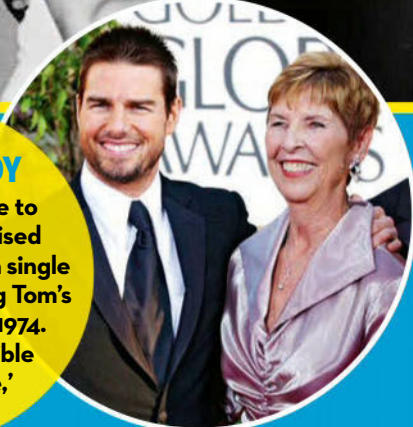

Two days later, on February 13, it was revealed that Tom Cruise's mum Mary Lee South - Suri's paternal grandmother - had passed away after years of poor health. Mary, 80, 'died peacefully in her sleep last week', according to reports.

'She was a woman of the greatest strength and greatest compassion,' Katie shared along with this picture of her late grandmother

TOM'S LEADING LADY

Tom was very close to mum Mary, who raised her four children as a single parent after divorcing Tom's 'bullying' father in 1974. 'She made it possible for us to survive,' Tom says.

'Happy Vallo day,' Zoë captioned this cute snap of the two men in her life

Bumpy Zoë 'I'M DEEPLY IN LOVE!'

Could this fam get any cuter? Pregnant beauty guru Zoë Foster Blake showed off her baby bump in a fun Insty snap on February 13 (left), then followed it up on the 14th with a sweet 'Vallo day' shout-out to her boys, hubby Hamish Blake and little man Sonny, two. 'To the two hunks I'm deeply in love with. You're stuck with me! Suck it!' joked Zoë, who is clearly a big fan of public declarations of love. 'Marriage isn't always cupcakes and Jesus juice,' she says. 'But it's important to show each other your marriage is a priority and that you still love them.' Aww, cute!

DEATH WISH

'She just keeps on saying... "I'm going to kill myself,"' a neighbour called in at the time of the incident.

Mischa's meltdowner IT'S WORSE THAN WE THOUGHT

Tapes of the 911 calls neighbours made during Mischa Barton's January 26 breakdown have emerged - and they paint a scary picture for the star.

'She's saying that it's all over, that everything is done and then just wailing,' said one caller, while another revealed, '[Police have] been called there a bunch. They go see her at least every couple of months because she loses it.'

Mischa, 31, says her drink was spiked with the drug GHB while she was out for her birthday prior to the incident, causing the meltdown. However, another insider reveals, '[She] has been on this downward spiral for years now.'

Raising concerns again on February 2, Mischa crashed a van into her new block of flats as she moved out of the home where the January incident occurred.

Love BITES

DUNZO!

Paris Jackson and Michael Snoddy have called it quits after one year. But an insider reveals they may reunite yet. 'It might be a temporary fix.'

GAGA'S GUY

Lady Gaga got cosy with her new beau, talent agent Christian Carino, during the singer's pre-Super Bowl half-time show photo call.

Lindy Klim celebrated her engagement to beau Adam Ellis in Melbourne last weekend. 'Exciting times ahead,' she shared.

ROB & CHYNA SPLIT?

It's not looking good for the duo after Blac Chyna was recently spotted with a mystery man - without her engagement ring - and has been posting family pics minus baby daddy Rob Kardashian.

Beyoncé reigns QUEEN MOTHER!

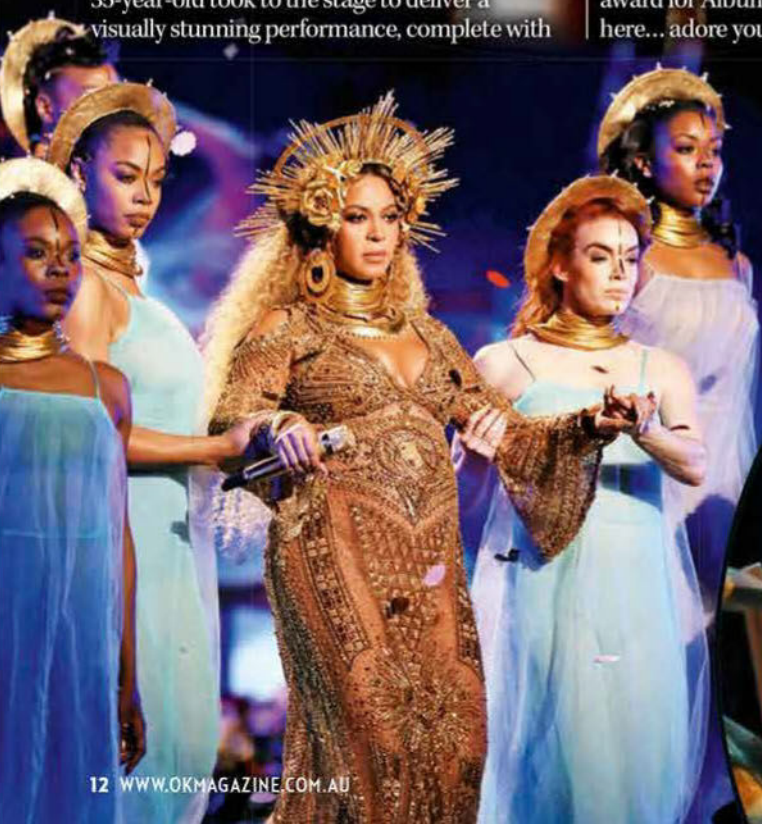

SLAY ALL DAY, BEY... THE SINGER'S STAR
SHONE BRIGHTLY AT THE GRAMMYS

She's never been known to do things by halves, so when word got out that Beyoncé was to perform at the 59th Annual Grammy Awards in LA on February 12, there was no question that it would be anything short of spectacular. Less than two weeks after announcing she is expecting twins, the 35-year-old took to the stage to deliver a visually stunning performance, complete with holographic imagery and 24 dancers. With her baby bump on display swathed in clingy gold fabric, Bey wasn't her usual energetic self, instead letting the backup babes do the moving while she belted out the tunes in a nine-minute segment. And fans weren't the only ones left stunned by Bey's brilliance, with Adele paying tribute to her 'Queen' while collecting her award for Album of the Year. 'All us artists here... adore you. You are our light,' she gushed.

Bey was thrilled to receive two gongs including Best Urban Contemporary Album for Lemonade

BABIES ON BOARD

Despite being pregnant with twins, Beyoncé still managed to throw in some amazing stunts during her lauded performance.

Bey smashed it, with celebs taking to social media to share their awe. 'I am crying. My bey. I cannot breathe,' gushed Chrissy Teigen

Solange and Jay Z looked on as Blue Ivy became the most talked-about guest on the night

An audience with Blue!

Bey killed it on stage, but it was her daughter Blue Ivy who stole the show. Clad in a Gucci suit and accessorising with a glitter cat purse, the five-year-old was far from intimidated by the big names surrounding her. Blue was quite at home perched on her dad's lap, even getting up to join in the fun with the likes of James Corden, JLo and Keith Urban for a session of Carpool Karaoke.

Interestingly, aunty Solange, 30, sat close to her niece and brother-in-law Jay, 45, looking every bit at ease with the fam. Looks like 2014's elevator fight is well and truly behind them!

SHARING IS CARING

Adele was so stunned at her Album of the Year win, she broke the award in half in order to share it with Beyoncé, who she thought deserved it more.

Adele called Bey's album Lemonade 'so monumental' and said she deserved to win an award for it

Heidi Klum makes a peace offering, but Katy Perry has other ideas

There wasn't a dry eye in the house as Adele collected the most coveted gong for Album of the Year – but the 28-year-old songstress used her acceptance speech to pay tribute to her fellow nominee and 'idol' Beyoncé! 'I can't possibly accept this award and I'm very humbled and I'm very grateful, but the artist of my life is Beyoncé,' she said, bringing a pregnant Bey to tears. 'The way you make me and my friends feel, the way you make my black friends feel is so empowering. I love you. I always have and I always will.'

The mum-of-one cleaned up at the awards ceremony, taking home five gongs, as well as performing twice. But things didn't all go to plan on the night, with Adele dramatically stopping her tribute to George Michael just after starting due to technical difficulties. 'I know it's live TV but I need to start again. I f---ed it up,' she said tearfully. 'I'm sorry for swearing and I'm sorry for starting again... I can't mess this up for him.'

Many tributes were given on the night, with Bruno Mars also taking to the stage to honour the late Prince, and John Legend and Cynthia Erivo performing a touching memorial for the fallen music stars of the past year.

JLo was happy to flash her bling as long as her arm was around Keith!

Is Keith just a little too pleased to see Jen?

IDOL INFATUATION

Keith reportedly waxed lyrical a few years ago to Nic about how 'beautiful, talented and charismatic' thrice-married singer and actress JLo is.

JLo & Keith WHAT WOULD Nicole say?

It's been almost a year since they left their positions as judges on American Idol, so when Keith Urban, 49, and Jennifer Lopez reunited at the Grammys, they had a lot of catching up to do.

Both flying solo on the night, with Keith's wife Nicole Kidman, 49, on the other side of the Atlantic attending the BAFTAs, the LA-based pair were snapped in a tight clinch seemingly unfazed by the commotion around them.

With the former co-judges rumoured to have been particularly flirty on the set of the hit show, this red carpet reunion is bound to hit a sore spot for Nicole. And with the actress said to have had reservations about her husband's close friendship with JLo, 47, at the time, their public embrace will no doubt have dredged up old feelings.

The pair were quite friendly during their time as judges on American Idol

DATE NIGHT GONE WILD!

Taking advantage of their night without 10-month-old daughter Luna, Chrissy Teigen and John Legend got down on the red carpet.

RIRI'S ROADIE!

The bar service was obviously not up to RiRi's standards! The singer brought along her own crystal-encrusted flask to sip from.

Lady Gaga brought the grunge to the red carpet before performing with Metallica. 'One of the best times I've ever had on stage ever,' she gushed

Ed Sheeran performed his new track Shape of You, which he originally wrote for Rihanna to sing! 'We were writing this song. I said, "This will really work for Rihanna", [but] we decided halfway through to keep it for me'

Costume change! 'I'm on the floor. And John is in charge of taking my jewellery off,' said a very tipsy Chrissy in a late-night Snapchat video

'I always told myself that if I ever hosted the Grammy Awards, I would do it in my underwear,' host James Corden joked

John Travolta channelled his Grease moves with Lady Gaga at the Interscope afterparty

CLUCKY SUPERSTAR KATY PERRY SPARKS PREGNANCY RUMOURS ON THE RED CARPET

In 2014, Katy Perry opened up about kids being in her 'five-year plan', revealing she would love nothing more than to be a mother - and with the singer sporting the hint of a baby bump on the Grammy Awards red carpet, many wondered if that time was now. 'Children to me are becoming a big focus,' she admitted in October last year. But with her man Orlando Bloom conspicuously absent at the big event and the afterparties, could the singer be prepping for parent life solo? After all, she has also admitted that she doesn't 'need a dude' to succeed at motherhood. 'We are living in the future,' she added. ●

As Scott gets wasted

KOURT RUNS BACK TO JUSTIN

KOURTNEY AND THE BIEBS RAMP UP THEIR HOOK-UPS!

He was out of control. On February 9, Scott Disick showed up wasted to a party in the Hollywood Hills. 'He was slurring his words and falling down,' says an insider. 'Scott was acting ridiculously rude. He approached every girl at the party and asked them to give him oral sex. Everyone was so disgusted by him.' Adds the source, 'If there was any chance of him ever getting back together with Kourtney Kardashian, his behaviour at this party totally blew it.'

Kourt doesn't want him back. 'She's been hanging out with her on/off flame Justin Bieber again,' an insider tells OK! exclusively, adding that Kourtney, 37, called Justin, 22, as soon as she got back from a family vacation to Costa Rica. 'Justin and Kourtney are having fun. They recently attended a church service in LA followed by a romantic night out at The Polo Lounge at The Beverly Hills Hotel,' adds the mole. 'They made no effort to hide their affections. It was almost like Kourtney wanted Scott to find out.'

That's because she did. 'Kourtney thinks Justin is hot... But she also uses him as a pawn to get back at Scott,' says the insider.

Since they began hooking up in 2015, Kourt and Justin have been known to have ulterior motives for their trysts. But this time is different. '[They] have crazy chemistry,' adds the insider. 'They've been in constant contact since she got home.'

However, Kourt shouldn't expect her younger lover to commit anytime soon. Pop's bad boy snubbed the star at his very own Grammys afterparty – she booked a private table in her name, but Justin never showed. 'Bieber's hits were playing, but Justin was nowhere to be seen,' spills another source.

Still, the idea that Kourt might be more interested in Biebs than him is pushing Scott over the edge. 'Scott's a total mess... He needs to clean up his act,' says the insider. ●

Justin and Kourt first began their steamy on and off liaison in December 2015

PARTY BOY WAYS

Kourt is 'infuriated' by Scott's behaviour. 'If he keeps partying... like this, there's no way she'll want him anywhere near their kids [Mason, seven, Penelope, four, and Reign, two],' says the source.

It seems viewers can't get enough of the 'Lord'

SCOTT GETS A SPIN-OFF!

Oh, Lord! Scott, 33, is getting his own E! series. 'It's a hybrid home makeover reality show. Scott will be flipping houses for resale, but the show will also focus on his personal life,' explains an insider, adding that Kourt has yet to decide if she and their three kids will be involved.

'Given the fact that mumager Kris [Jenner, 61] has signed off on the show, it seems likely that at least some of the Kardashians will make appearances,' says the source.

FINDING LOVE AGAIN

'Kim won't be single and alone for long,' predicts our spy. 'When she and Kanye split, Kim is going to rebound so fast it will make everyone's head spin.'

Kim's quickie divorce

SHE'S ALREADY MOVED ON!

THE PROMISE OF NEW LOVE HAS PUT A FAST END TO THE STAR'S RELATIONSHIP

Ever since Kim Kardashian's terrifying hold-up in Paris, things haven't been the same between the reality star and her rapper hubby Kanye West. The once-inseparable pair have rarely been spotted in each other's company over the past few months – and now, OK! can reveal why.

'Kim has quietly been letting on to a few close and trusted friends that she's got her eye on a new man and that they're growing close emotionally,' an insider tells us exclusively. 'She would never cross the line and get physical until after she and Kanye agreed to split, but it seems inevitable at this point.'

'Kim has checked out of her marriage with Kanye. Kim retreated emotionally after the Paris robbery and then the spark died completely after Kanye's breakdown,' the source continues, referring to the rapper's November 21 hospitalisation for mental health issues. 'Even with therapy and a family intervention, Kim and Kanye just haven't been able to get their relationship back on track. Kim says that Kanye isn't the man she fell in love with and married.'

It's this dramatic shift in his personality that has pushed the mum-of-two into the arms of another. 'Kim and Kanye might be living completely separate lives, but Kim is by no means alone. There are quite a few men who have made it clear that they'd move mountains to be with her,' says our insider. 'She has become emotionally attached to one in particular, and now Kim is telling her friends that she's excited about the future.'

'Kim has met up in secret with this guy and there's definitely electricity between them,' OK!'s spy adds. 'For the first time in ages, Kim is excited about falling in love again.'

The promise of new life and love has put a much-needed spring in Kim's step, and now more than ever, she's looking for the support Kanye can no longer provide. 'I want that best friend partnership,' Kim, 36, explains.

'She and Kanye are like two ships passing in the night now,' spills OK!'s source. 'Kanye dove right back into his hectic work schedule as soon as doctors gave him the [all] clear. Now he's consumed with his big New York fashion show and he's been logging long hours in the studio working on music. Kim feels like she's an afterthought to Kanye.'

Friends of the 39-year-old music mogul hoped the hospital stay would '[make] him realise that he needed to step back from work and focus on his personal health and mindset', reveals another source. But it didn't, and now the damage is done. '[Kim] wants someone who is fun-loving and more easygoing,' explains OK!'s Kardashian insider. 'She adores Kanye's passion and creativity, but his neediness and demanding nature drain her to the point of exhaustion.'

So, after lying low following the robbery, a new and stronger Kim has emerged as she prepares to move on – without Yeezy. 'Kim is a strong, alpha woman and she thinks Kanye can't handle that,' tells our insider.

Though the split is still to be made official, the signs are there, with Kim now refusing to move into the lavish $26 million Hidden Hills mansion the couple have been renovating since they married in 2014. 'Kim does not feel safe at this new place because it is so large,' is the excuse one spy offers for her reluctance to shack up with her hubby.

But there's so much more to it.

'Kanye has the attitude that Kim will just be there when he gets home or when he needs her,' adds OK!'s insider. 'But she has emotional and physical needs too, and she wants a man who is there for her completely. And that man isn't Kanye.' ●

KANYE'S PAIN

'Kanye will, no doubt, feel betrayed if Kim dumps him and moves on with another guy,' reveals OK!'s insider.

BACK TO HER OLD LIFE...

KIM'S EXISTENCE IS BECOMING MORE KANYE-FREE BY THE DAY

MOVED BACK IN WITH KRIS

With Kanye living in an LA condo while receiving outpatient treatment from UCLA, Kim and the kids are back in mum Kris's Hidden Hills home – just like during Kim's pre-married life. 'They're happy there,' says a pal.

BACK TO HER OLD STYLE

In 2015, Kim explained that Kanye had tossed out a pile of her clothes he didn't approve of. But now, Kim's let slip that she saved them all – so North can revisit her glitzy looks of old, she claims... 'I kept it all for my daughter [North], even when Kanye thought he cleaned out my closet,' Kim told fans via Snapchat. Is this a return to her old identity?

Instead of being with his family, a newly blonde Kanye was spotted in New York on February 11, preparing for his Yeezy Season 5 fashion show

George & Amal: four months to go

IT'S A BOY... & A GIRL!

THE COUPLE GET A DOUBLE BLESSING

There's no keeping Hollywood's happiest news under wraps any longer. George and Amal Clooney are the ecstatic parents-to-be of twins! The bubs – a boy and a girl – are due in June, meaning human rights lawyer Amal, 39, has just four months to go until she holds her longed-for children in her arms.

George's bestie Matt Damon, 46, has officially confirmed the news, and it turns out he's been keeping their secret for months!

'I was working with [George on the movie Suburbicon] last fall and he pulled me aside on set and I mean, I almost start crying,' spills Matt, who's a father of four daughters himself. 'I was so happy for him.'

George's mum Nina has shared her own joy, gushing, 'We are extremely happy for George and Amal, and I cannot imagine two people who would be better parents.' She adds, 'It will be one of each! Yes, a boy and a girl.'

The news is all the more surprising given 55-year-old George has long avowed that fatherhood wasn't for him. 'I think he decided that in his life he could have the career or he could have a family,' his sister Adelia Zeidler once revealed, while George himself has admitted, 'It's not something to be taken lightly.'

However, since marrying British-raised Amal in September 2014, George has finally seen he can have both a career and kids. With the renovations of their sprawling $16 million English countryside estate almost complete, the time is perfect for the A-list pair to welcome children into their lives. 'They can't believe in just a few months they're going to have two babies,' a close friend reveals.

With George's career switching down a gear of late, now's also the right time for him to be a hands-on dad. 'He's going to focus on executive producing and post-production, which he can predominately do in England,' says a pal.

Amal's high-profile work, on the other hand, shows no signs of slowing, with the source revealing she plans to head back to work after six months' maternity leave. But this suits George just fine. 'I found the love of my life,' the smitten actor says. 'I couldn't be more proud.' ●

Matt says dad-to-be George, here with his beautiful wife Amal, has 'hit the jackpot just on every level'

'HE'LL

GREAT DAD'

'I'm thrilled for him,' says George's buddy Matt Damon. '[Amal's] amazing. They're gonna be great. Those kids are lucky.'

The star, with one of the kids on the set of Suburbicon, is ready for the next stage of his life

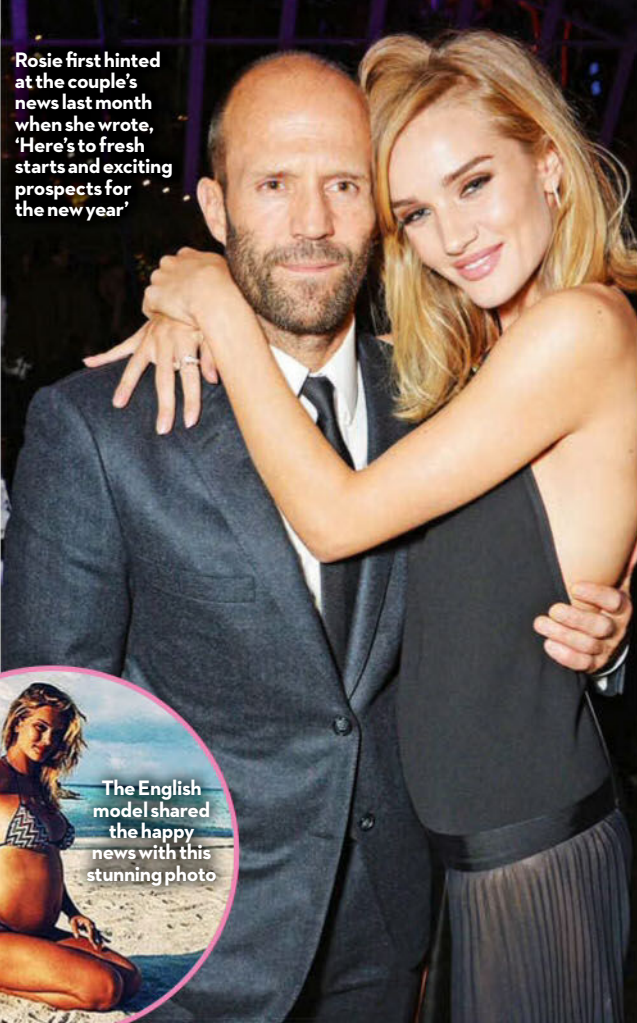

Rosie & Jason

MAKE IT INSTA-OFFICIAL!

Finally! After months of speculation, Rosie Huntington-Whiteley, 29, has revealed she's pregnant with her and 49-year-old fiancé Jason Statham's first baby. 'Very happy to share that Jason and I are expecting,' the glowing mama-to-be captioned the beautiful snap - which, at the time of printing, had been liked more than 690,000 times! In 2015, Rosie admitted that she was ready for children, revealing, 'Having a family is something I think about for sure.' Rosie, your wish is granted!

The English model shared the happy news with this stunning photo

Rosie first hinted at the couple's news last month when she wrote, 'Here's to fresh starts and exciting prospects for the new year'

And baby makes three! The happy couple will welcome their new addition later this year

Whitney & Tim

'WE ARE SO EXCITED'

The Hills star Whitney Port has also showed off her burgeoning baby bump in an arty snap posted to her Instagram account. 'Oh hey! Just standing by the window in my underwear with a BABY in my belly!!!' she wrote on February 10. 'DM me if you know what I'm supposed to do with this thing for how ever many years I'm supposed to be in charge.' Whitney, 31, and her TV producer hubby Tim Rosenman married in 2015 after becoming engaged in Sydney in 2013. 'We are sooooo excited,' she adds.

Miranda

HAS A COLD

Ever since they got together two years ago, Miranda Kerr has been praising her hubby-to-be Evan Spiegel nonstop. 'He's just a really kind person. And very authentic,' she once gushed, adding he's 'great' with her six-year-old son Flynn. But with Miranda recently revealing the pair aren't having sex, some are beginning to wonder if the model mum is getting cold feet.

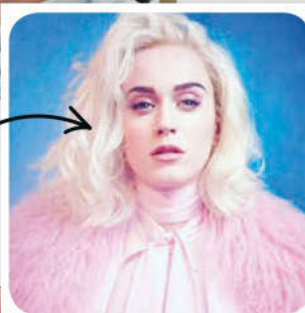

The revelation came after Miranda confirmed that she and 26-year-old Evan wouldn't be having kids until they'd officially tied the knot. 'Not yet. Not until after we get married,' she explained, adding, 'We can't... I mean, we're just... waiting.'

It's a surprising twist for the star couple, who've been living together for almost a year. In the past, Miranda's bragged about her

ARE KATY & ORLY OVER?

Could Miranda's ex-hubby also be heading for a split? Rumours are swirling that Orlando Bloom and Katy Perry are on thin ice, after her mysterious Insty post: 'New life who dis.'

While Katy may have been referring to her new blonde dye job, speculation is rife that the pair aren't in a great place. The singer was flying solo at the Grammys afterparties - while her man hit up Soho House in Malibu!

healthy sex life, claiming, 'The more sex I have, the more defined my arms and stomach get.'

So why has it all suddenly come to a grinding halt? Insisting her Snapchat founder beau was behind the sex ban, Miranda says her partner 'is very traditional'. But leaked emails from Evan's university days (right) tell a very different story, revealing his far-from-gentlemanly plans to ply girls with 'jello shots' in the hope of 'drunk sex' during a frat party.

The six-year-old emails were written to other members of Evan's Kappa Sigma fraternity at Stanford University. In one missive, Evan complains that the sorority girls at their bash are 'more frigid than previously anticipated', before lecherously adding 'at least we have another tray of rubbing alcohol/jello-flavoured shots'.

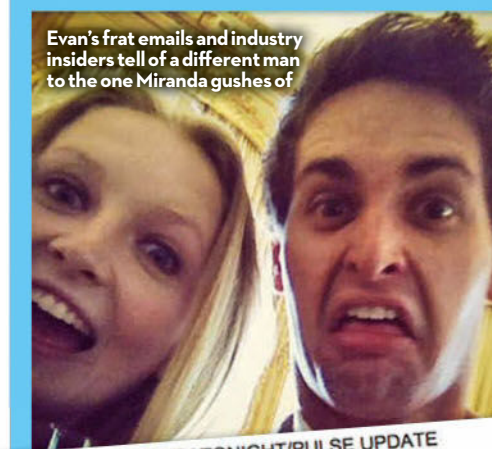

Hardly the words we'd expect from the man Miranda calls an 'old soul'. Apologising for the emails years later, Evan says, 'I'm sorry I wrote them at the time and I was a jerk to have written them. They in no way reflect who I am today or my views towards women.'

Even so, it's a very different picture of Evan from the sensitive lover Miranda has painted. 'He acts like he's 50', she says. 'We don't go out. We'd rather be at home and have dinner.'

But just how well does Miranda really know Evan? 'He's very mysterious', the 33-year-old supermodel recently confessed. And while Evan may have been on his best behaviour during the early stages of their courtship, she admits his proposal was far from romantic. 'He said to me, "Miranda, I'm telling you now, this is the first and last time I'm going to kneel down in front of you," she recalls.

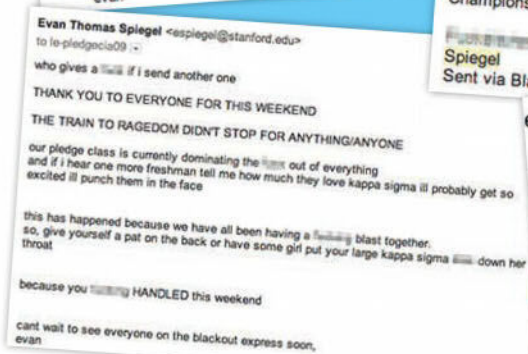

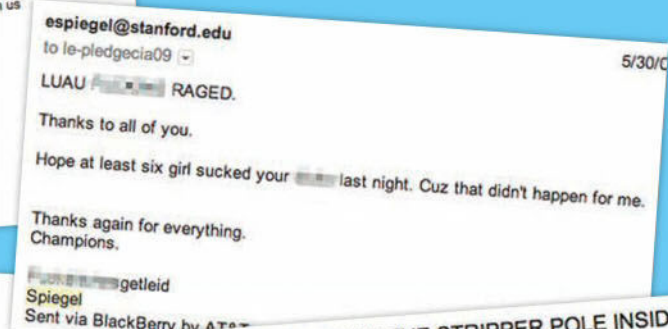

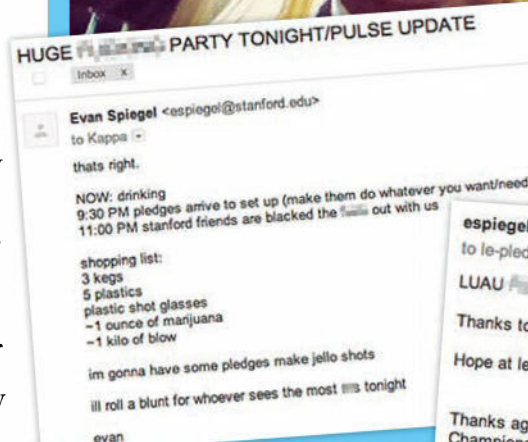

For now, at least, Miranda says the wedding is 'still coming along'. However, could that all change if Evan returns to his former ways? ●

Evan's frat emails and industry insiders tell of a different man to the one Miranda gushes of

PRE-MIRANDA DAYS 'EVAN WASN'T A NICE GUY'

Evan's expletive-ridden emails to his pals give an insight into college life. In 2013, the entrepreneur's former frat brother Reggie Brown filed a lawsuit against Evan and his Snapchat partner Bobby Murphy, claiming they'd stolen his idea for the famed app. In the end, Evan and Bobby quietly paid a $206 million settlement. It's not the only time he's been slammed by the industry. One insider, who regularly interacts with Evan, claims he is 'deeply insecure' and 'unbearably cocky'.

With Vito spotted getting very cosy with married entrepreneur Dasha, will Heidi stand by her younger man?

'I'm very romantic and old-fashioned,' says Heidi. Sadly, that might not be enough to hold on to her toyboy

Vito and Dasha were seen together in Switzerland late last month

CHEATING CU

THE SUPERMODEL'S YOUNGER BEAU HAS BEEN SPRUNG WITH YET ANOTHER LADY

Arriving at the amfAR New York Gala on February 8, Heidi Klum and her toyboy lover Vito Schnabel appeared as loved-up as ever as they approached the waiting paparazzi. But their smiles and solidarity may have been little more than a front. After all, only a week earlier, the 30-year-old had been snapped getting cosy with Russian entrepreneur Dasha Zhukova, 35, over dinner in Switzerland.

Dasha, who's married to Russian billionaire Roman Abramovich, also joined Vito for an A-list exhibition launch at the art dealer's St Moritz gallery on January 29.

It's not the first time Vito has gotten too close to a female friend during his three years with Heidi. In December 2015, he was snapped having a drink with Fifty Shades of Grey star Dakota Johnson in New York, with an onlooker claiming he held her hand and played with her hair during the night out.

Vito's recent antics would be a devastating blow for Heidi, who thought she'd found The One. 'We have an amazing connection, we have fun together and we love each other,' the 43-year-old confided last year. 'It doesn't matter what people say. As long as you know when you close your door in your own home you have an amazing time together, that's all that matters.'

In a sad twist, however, the German-born TV presenter and former supermodel appears to be turning a blind eye to her younger lover's indiscretions, talking about their Valentine's Day plans as if nothing was wrong. 'I do [have things planned], but if I tell them to you right now, then they wouldn't be a surprise anymore!' she quipped ahead of February 14.

Vito's flirty night out with Dasha comes after Heidi was overheard talking about adding to her brood of four. But, adds the spy, 'she complained that her boyfriend wouldn't let her have another'. Could the Project Runway star's desire to expand her family be the reason for his wayward behaviour?

Heidi can't seem to catch a break in love. When she was pregnant with her first child Leni, now 12, she discovered her baby daddy Flavio Briatore was having an affair with model Vanessa Hilger, then 19. Their acrimonious spilt worsened when the Italian Formula 1 boss reportedly demanded a paternity test after Heidi soon started dating – and later married – British singer Seal.

The tables turned after the couple's shock split in 2012, when Seal claimed his wife had cheated with bodyguard Martin Kirsten. 'I would have thought Heidi would have shown a little more class and at least waited until we separated first before deciding to fornicate with the help,' he blasted.

While she later admitted she was seeing Martin, Heidi insisted nothing had happened until after her split with Seal. 'Our separation was based on issues between the two of us,' she said. 'Seal has moved on and so have I.'

Having been on both sides of the situation, we wonder what Heidi will do now with her wandering-eyed lover... ●

'She's a woman with an agenda,' Ian says of Ange. 'She wants full custody... because she hopes to move to the UK'

IAN HALPERIN SPILLS
ALL IN SHOCK NEW DOCUMENTARY

Five months after Angelina Jolie filed for divorce from Brad Pitt, the public sledging and accusations have finally died down from both camps. But a new tell-all documentary has the potential to wind this saga right back up again. 'They both want this divorce to be finalised as privately as possible, but with more revelations set to be revealed, this battle could turn nasty,' explains an insider.

Ian Halperin, the filmmaker and bestselling author of the 2009 book Brangelina: The Untold Story of Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie, is behind the explosive documentary, which promises to detail the real reasons behind their split. 'The bottom line is that they both wanted out of this relationship for a long time,' Ian claims. 'Angelina was never going to go away quietly, but the decision to take this public may well be the biggest mistake she has ever made.'

Here, OK! reveals the biggest bombshells Broken: The Incredible Story of Brangelina is set to expose about the couple's 12-year union.

'Brad will never get over the wild accusations from her side,' Ian says

BRAD TRIED TO LEAVE ANGE!

'After they split privately [in 2015 - see right], Angelina became terrified that Brad would go public with it. Even though he never would have, their arguments were toxic and he repeatedly threatened to do so,' reveals Ian. 'In the two months leading up to her decision to file for divorce, he had threatened to publicly dissolve the relationship six times. She was afraid and she wanted to beat him to the punch.' Ian adds that Brad was 'devastated' by her betrayal. 'He never thought she'd stoop to that level. But she didn't want to be seen as the one that got dumped, so she rushed to make it look like he was the bad guy and vilified him.'

THEY SPLIT IN 2015

According to Ian, their divorce was a long time coming, with the celebrity biographer claiming that Brad and Angelina knew their marriage was well and truly over while filming their last movie together, By the Sea.

& Ange's DORCE RETS KED!

'Both camps fear secrets may be exposed that could potentially damage their reputations and careers,' an insider reveals

'The set of that movie became very toxic. They were uncontrollable, arguing incessantly. It was vicious,' says Ian, adding this was the last straw in their embattled union. 'Once it was over, they realised they had expired.'

3 WHO WILL SPEAK OUT?

Angelina knows Brad has many celeb supporters who will vouch for him, including Melissa Etheridge and Chelsea Handler, who have both expressed their dislike for the actress. However, Ange has also become paranoid about her own friends turning against her. '[She] is particularly keen to know if anyone she still considers close to her has spoken to Ian. She's unsure of who her true friends are,' spills an insider. 'She's endured a huge backlash and it's led her to regret her decision to go public with all the divorce proceedings. She's terrified this will taint her legacy as an actress and humanitarian forever.'

'They wanted to create a brand bigger than any couple we have seen in Hollywood,' Ian claims

4 THEY WEREN'T COMPATIBLE

While their relationship appeared picture-perfect on paper, Ian reveals that, behind closed doors, it was a different story. 'They were fundamentally incompatible, and people will be surprised to see how divided they were from the get-go,' he tells. 'The people I interviewed, even today, say this relationship was false from the get-go. It was a complete sham.'

Katie & Jamie's

UNTOLD LOVE STORY

THROWING IT BACK TO WHERE IT ALL BEGAN

Their relationship is perhaps the worst-kept secret in Hollywood, but how Katie Holmes and Jamie Foxx found love with one another is a lesser-known tale!

It all started in 2013 – a year after the actress's divorce from Tom Cruise – at the Apollo in the Hamptons fundraiser. 'Katie looked gorgeous,' an insider recalls. 'Jamie saw a sexy side of her he'd never noticed before.'

The pair spent the night chatting and flirting up a storm after Katie, 38 – who'd 'always harboured a little crush' on Jamie, 49 – asked the star to dance, spills the source. 'As the gala wound down, Katie said they should stay in touch and asked for his number.'

Three weeks passed with no contact, convincing Jamie their flirtation would go no further... so it was a pleasant surprise when Katie, who was living in New York at the time, sent a cheeky text suggesting he take her out on her next trip to LA!

'That was all the sign he needed,' says the insider. Jamie booked a private sunset dinner at Soho House in West Hollywood – and there, 'their real romance began'.

Now, more than three years down the track, the couple are finally ready to go public with their romance. 'Katie's agreement with Tom [not to date publicly for five years] is expiring and they're tired of hiding,' explains the mole. 'Katie says Jamie makes her feel like the happiest version of herself.' ●

GETTING HANDSY!

The pair couldn't stay away from each other that night in the Hamptons. '[Jamie] could feel the attraction,' reveals the insider.

HE CAN KEEP A SECRET!

Katie and Jamie are even talking babies! 'That's not something they could keep under wraps,' says the spy. Or is it? The mum of his daughter Corrine, 23, was unknown until last year and we still don't know the name of his seven-year-old Annalise's mum (inset)...

THE STAR TALKS FAMILY AND HER BOLD CAREER MOVE

For a few years, I was a little bit lost as an artist, not being able to find what I wanted to do and making choices that I wasn't, ultimately, very happy with,' admits actress Reese Witherspoon.

It was this lack of diversity that found the 40-year-old Oscar winner at a turning point in her career. 'I think literally one studio had a project for a female lead over 30,' Reese recalls. 'I thought to myself, "I've got to get busy." Nobody's to blame for the situation in Hollywood, but you can either sit around and talk about how bad it is or you can do something about it.'

And so she did. In addition to forming production company Pacific Standard – responsible for the Oscar-nominated Gone Girl and Wild, among others – the mum-of-three teamed up with Otter Media to form Hello Sunshine, a joint venture focused on telling female-driven stories on film, TV and digital platforms.

Their first project? Big Little Lies, a comedy-drama miniseries about five women whose seemingly perfect lives become increasingly tangled and start to unravel. Based on the bestselling book by Australian author Liane Moriarty, it sparked a bidding war among the major TV networks.

'[I was tired of seeing] women of incredible talent playing wives and girlfriends in thankless parts – I'd just had enough,' reveals Reese. 'So it's a unique privilege to be able to come to other women with a piece of material that I feel deeply proud of.'

Here, the bubbly blonde star opens up about mum life, finding balance and the huge changes taking place in Hollywood...

With a fashion line, a production company, a busy acting career and three kids, you are one busy lady! How do you juggle it all? I'm just trying to hold on... My older kids [Ava, 17, and Deacon, 13] help with the little one [Tennessee, four]. It's nice to all!

BIG LITTLE LIES

'For 25 years, I've been the only woman on set... they call it Smurfette Syndrome,' says Reese. 'It's so refreshing to get to spend time with women,' she adds of the show's cast, which includes Zoë Kravitz, Nicole Kidman, Shailene Woodley and Laura Dern. 'This is the greatest ensemble experience I've ever had.'

'I saw myself in different stages,' says Reese of the book's characters. 'I was a mum at 22, I was a mum at 40... I've been divorced, I've been remarried'

'We see each other as humans,' Reese says of her co-stars. 'We are on this journey as women'

MOTHER'S GROUP

'We became a really close-knit family,' says Reese of the show's cast.

Reese and Jim share son Tennessee, while Ava and Deacon are her kids with ex-hubby Ryan Phillippe have a big family. My mother worked, and I think it's good for kids to see women working and being successful. It's going to make them hard workers because they see that I don't get much sleep, but I love what I do. I want them to grow up with passion; this is the one life you get – and you have to live it to the very end.

So are you nailing the 'working mum' thing?

No-one's really doing it perfectly. I think you love your kids with your whole heart, and you do the best you possibly can. There are some sacrifices you make, and it hurts your heart sometimes, but my kids tell me they're proud of what I've accomplished, and that just means everything.

MY KIDS TELL ME
THEY'RE PROUD...
AND THAT JUST

What do you want to teach your children?

If you never try, you'll never know. I'm always putting myself out there and always say to the kids, 'You know, sometimes you just have to jump two feet into a cold pool.' Maybe it's going to pay off, maybe it's not, but at least you took the chance.

Can you tell us what's it like being a mum in the digital age?

I have two teenagers, and I've discovered that they will Snapchat me back, but they will not call me back!

You launched your Draper James fashion label in 2015. Tell us a bit about that!

It's a different experience, but I'm enjoying learning something new. I like the challenge of trying something [other than acting], too. There are a lot of people talking about New York and Los Angeles, but there's a whole world out there... and that's who I like to tell stories about and make products for – people who love the life they have, and have a sense of style that's uniquely their own.

You turned 40 last year – what's changed since you hit Hollywood in your twenties?

I'm much more open now. In my twenties, I was scared of everything. I didn't know what my career was. I didn't know why people liked my movies. I was wary of interacting with people. I was 25 when Legally Blonde came out, 26 for Sweet Home Alabama and 29 for Walk the Line. And I was scared... Now I feel like a different person. It's a great thing, getting older: you are who you are; you say what you mean... I've realised that life is too short to spend my time with anybody who doesn't appreciate me, treat me with respect or bring value to the relationship. I'm much more confident now. I feel like I have the ability to say, 'Nope, I don't want to work with that person.'

You've come a long way! What inspired you to start producing your own films?

[My husband Jim Toth] said, 'You should produce movies. You read more books than anybody I know – you should buy some of them and turn them into films.'

You must read a lot of books and scripts. Why did Big Little Lies stand out?

It was such a unique opportunity to have women of every age, of every colour, talking about motherhood... Parenthood is a good equaliser, socio-economically, and everything brings these five different women together in a way that they clash, but they also understand and discover each other.

Did any of the characters resonate with you when you first read the book?

I saw myself at different stages of motherhood all through my life. [The book] explores so many aspects that are relatable to the lives of women; it wasn't about them being good or bad – they showed every spectrum and every colour of women's lives.

You're very passionate about finding stories that represent different kinds of women...

I'm passionate because things have to change. We have to start seeing women on film as they really are. We need to see real women's experiences, whether it involves domestic violence, whether it involves sexual assault, whether it involves motherhood or romance or infidelity or divorce. We need to see these things because we, as human beings, learn from art – and what can you do if you never see it reflected? ●

'I really wanted to be a Broadway kid,' says the star

A SOUTHERN BELLE

RAISED IN NASHVILLE, REESE GOT HER FIRST TASTE OF THE SPOTLIGHT AT SEVEN IN TV ADS FOR A FLORIST. ACTING CLASSES SOON FOLLOWED...

Reese says her Southern upbringing gave her 'a sense of family and tradition'

She made her film debut in 1991, landing two lead roles

'I just don't see [my early achievements] as remarkable,' Reese explains

#TOTES!

'I saw an empty space,' says Reese of her Draper James label, known for its sassy tote bags. 'All these women in the South, they read fashion magazines, but nobody was telling the stories about... their mothers, their grandmothers, who loved getting dressed up.' Reese herself relies on daughter Ava's 'brutal honesty' when choosing outfits. 'I'll ask... "Does this look good?" and she'll be like, "No, you do not look good – you can't wear that!"'

What's in store for Allison, Zosia, Lena and Jemima's characters? 'I don't think anyone's done a series finale like we did. It's a very different version of ending a series,' Lena teases irls!

THEY'RE ALL GROWN UP AND READY TO SAY GOODBYE

Girls has been my life... my friends... my identity,' admits Lena Dunham, who was just 23 when she pitched the TV series to producers in 2012. Now, with its main characters heading into their thirties, Lena says, 'It makes sense for us to wrap their stories up.' As the gritty show heads into its final season, fans will know not to expect any fairytale endings for the foursome; however, Lena promises they will be left 'better than we found them'. Here's where our leading ladies are at...

ALLISON WILLIAMS

As we enter season six, Allison's character Marnie appears to have finally found happiness with café manager Ray (played by Alex Karpovsky). But Lena says there may still be a few hiccups in store. 'I think Marnie's really floundering,' says the star. 'I don't think she can keep running from one relationship to the next to the next.'

There's one other problem – Ray used to date fellow squad member Shoshanna. 'I hope they find a way to stay together,' says Alex. 'But I also hope it's going to be fraught with doubt and confusion and chaos.'

Originally the 'sensible one', Marnie's been left at a crossroads following the breakdown of her marriage to musician Desi (Ebon Moss-Bachrach), who Lena says will be back this year. 'They continue to work together.'

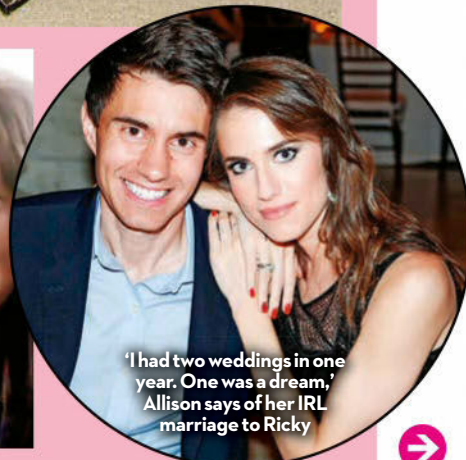

So does Allison identify with her character at all? 'Marnie and I started out pretty similar and pretty quickly started diverging,' the 28-year-old actress reveals. 'But there have been some incredibly clean parallels, like having two weddings in one year,' she adds, referring to her 2015 marriage to CollegeHumor founder Ricky Van Veen. 'I was a very different bride than Marnie.'

FRIGHTFUL FUTURE

Her character Marnie's future may be up in the air, but Allison's 2017 is looking hot, with a starring role in horror film Get Out alongside Daniel Kaluuya.

'We kind of spent the day in denial of what was happening,' Allison says of filming the show's final scenes

'I had two weddings in one year. One was a dream,' Allison says of her IRL marriage to Ricky

LENA DUNHAM

'I haven't made my mark in the city yet,' says Lena's character Hannah at the start of season six. But there may be some very big developments for her this year, after Lena was snapped filming scenes wearing - SPOILER ALERT - a baby bump! And with the prospect of parenthood beckoning, Hannah may need to do some serious growing up.

Motherhood has also been weighing on Lena's mind after she recently confirmed she wants kids with her long-time muso boyfriend Jack Antonoff. 'I'm kind of getting towards that point in my life where I want to have children,' she reveals. The 30-year-old actress, who struggles with endometriosis, says adoption may be an option. 'It's not important to me, really at all, that the child belonged to Jack and me on a genetic level.'

We also find Hannah at a career crossroads this season. After a stint as a teacher, she will return to writing. 'Her deciding to write again is Hannah getting close to her truth,' Lena says. 'It sort of symbolises that Hannah is going to grow up and be a grown woman.'

Next up for Lena is a slew of TV, film and writing projects between her two production companies A Casual Romance and Lenny Letter, which she co-founded with Girls showrunner Jenni Konner.

And it seems we may not have seen the last of Hannah and her gal pals, with Lena confirming there may still be a movie! 'Yeah, we would love to,' she says. 'We love these characters. We love this world. And it would not be that hard to drag us back.'

WHO'S THE DADDY?

After Lena was seen on set wearing a prosthetic baby bump, fans were quick to speculate on who Hannah's baby daddy might be. 'There can always be someone new,' Lena teases.

Is the father Hannah's recent ex Fran (Jake Lacy)?

...Or her on-off love - and Jessa's current beau! - Adam (Adam Driver)?

MUM LIFE

'You don't balance it. You just run back and forth like a mad woman,' Jemima jokes of being a working mum.

JEMIMA KIRKE

Now that Jessa and Adam have been outed, the big question is, can her friendship with Hannah survive? 'I've always said Girls is about them trying to grow up, and this season is no exception,' explains showrunner Jenni. 'They're always trying, but this season is - though they don't know it - the last chance to figure out if they're really going to stay friends.'

In real life, Jemima, 31, and Lena go back much further, having first become friends at school. But there have been a few tests along the way - like when Jemima nearly quit the show before the start of season two, which covered the fallout of her quickie wedding to Thomas John (Chris O'Dowd). 'Season two was kind of traumatic for me. I think for everyone,' Jemima admits. 'And I know that I was a bit of a tyrant myself.'

While the actress says she's no longer as wild as her alter ego, some storylines have cut a little close to the bone. Like Jessa, Jemima went to rehab, which is where she met her now-ex-husband Michael Mosberg - a former lawyer who ran the clinic. Their daughter Rafaella, six, was born just six weeks before Jemima shot the pilot for Girls; the pair also have four-year-old son Memphis.

Juggling motherhood and a busy filming schedule has been tough - something

Jemima is not afraid to admit. 'Sometimes things suffer. Sometimes my work suffers. Sometimes I don't get to hang out with my kids... But I would rather be working than be, for me, a stay-at-home mother.'

With Girls now wrapping up, Jemima is undergoing more big changes since announcing her split from Michael in January. This year she'll be focusing on her family and her other passion - painting - while she also has a string of acting projects coming up, including the film Untogether with Jamie Dornan.

So as the show finally comes to a close, is Jessa finally ready to become an adult? 'I can tell you that the girls, in a very Girls way, do finally start to grow up. Our greatest hope is that the audience finds the end as satisfying as we do,' Jenni reveals. 'But then, if the audience was entirely pleased, it wouldn't be Girls!'

ZOSIA MAMET

After whirlwind adventures in Japan, it's back to reality for Zosia's character Shoshanna now that she's back home in New York. 'I think she had an amazing time, but she thought she had solved all of her problems geographically, and that didn't quite work for her,' explains showrunner Jenni.

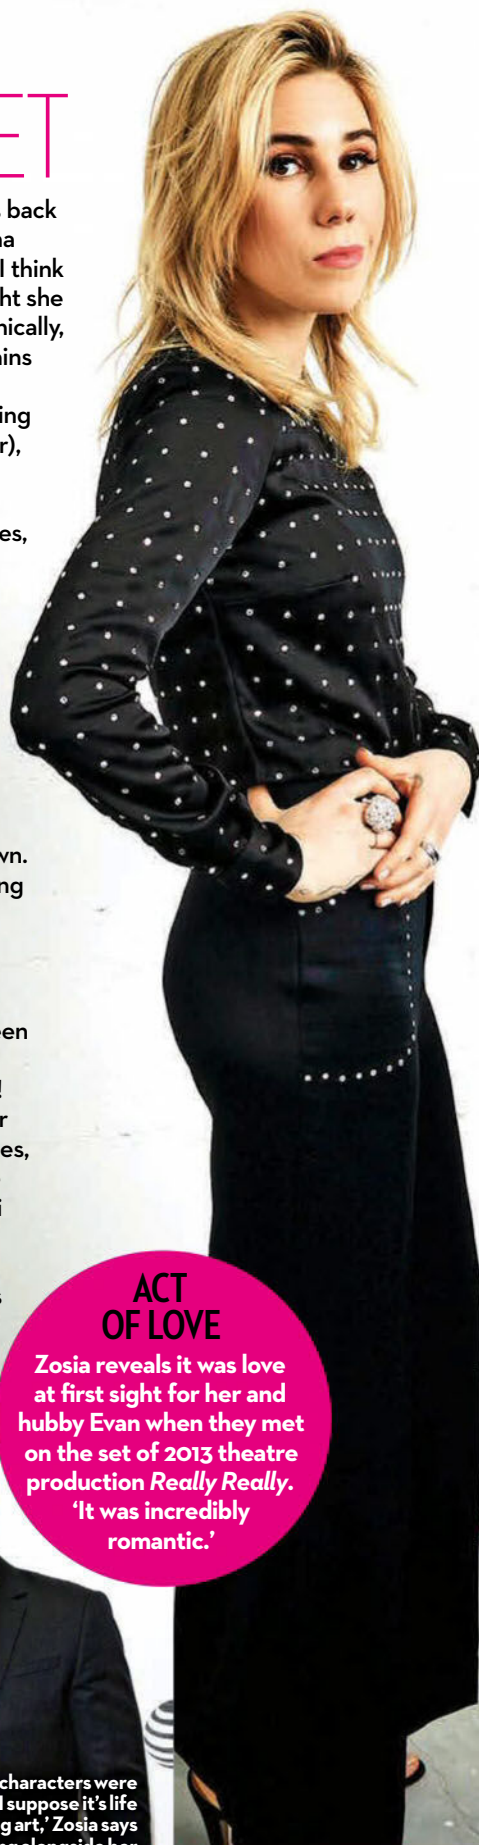

After losing her job in Tokyo, and leaving her soup mogul beau Scott (Jason Ritter), now may finally be the time Shoshanna comes into her own. 'I think she's been a little flattened by her latest experiences, and it will be interesting to see her re-integrate into New York,' Jenni says. 'I think she's happy to be back.'

Things could have been very different if producers had cast Amy Schumer, who also auditioned for the role of Shoshanna. 'It was clear Amy wasn't meant to play an innocent Juicy Couture lover obsessed with emoji,' Lena says. And since the day she was cast, Zosia has made the role her own.

However, Zosia does insist she's nothing like her character. 'The most satisfying part was getting to play a person who was intrinsically opposite of me in, like, every atom of my being,' she says.

There have been big changes off-screen for Zosia recently - namely, her 2016 marriage to fellow actor Evan Jonigkeit! And there's been no shortage of jobs for the star, who has a slew of upcoming roles, including a part in Under the Silver Lake with Andrew Garfield and a role as Patti Smith in the biopic Mapplethorpe.

Even so, it's hard for Zosia to say goodbye to Shoshanna. 'I love her,' adds the 29-year-old. 'And now I miss her.' ●

ACT OF LOVE

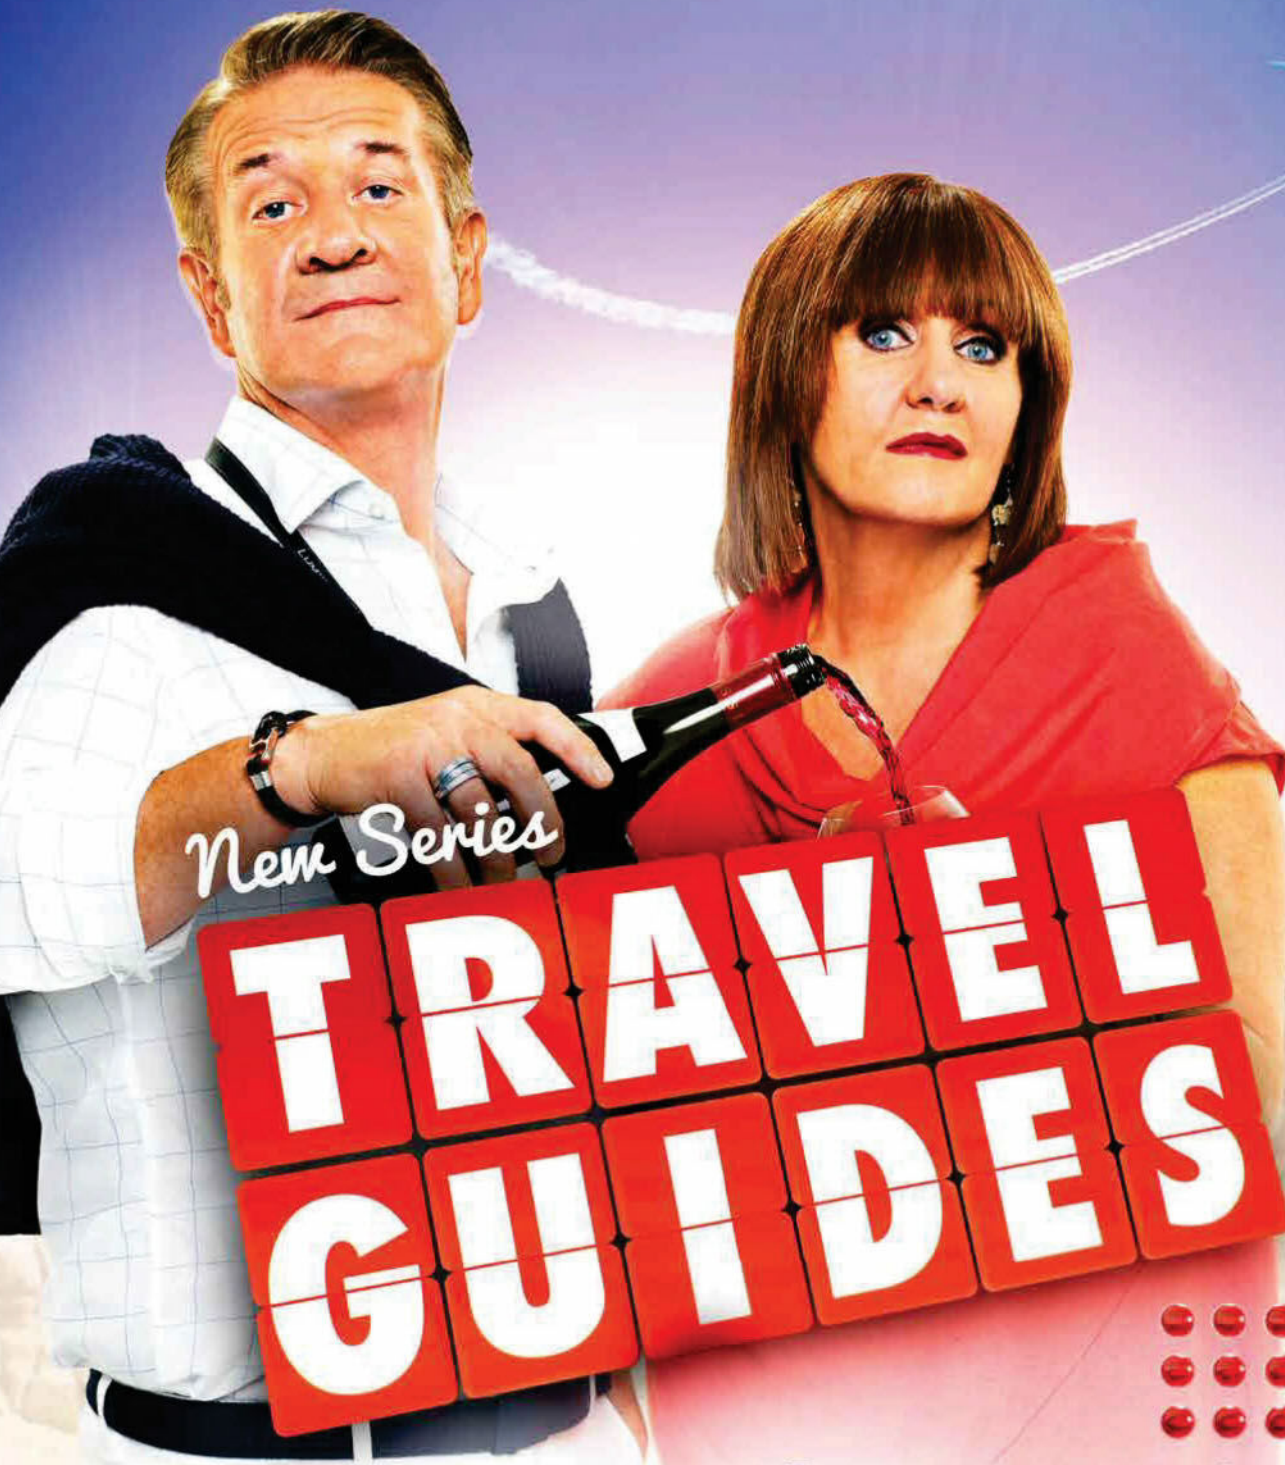

Zosia reveals it was love at first sight for her and hubby Evan when they met on the set of 2013 theatre production Really Really. 'It was incredibly romantic.'

'Our characters were engaged. I suppose it's life imitating art,' Zosia says of acting alongside her now-husband Evan in an off-Broadway show

Q DOES ANYTHING FIX SPIDER VEINS?

Spider veins are a serious pain, especially in summer! Since treatment is salon only, we enlisted the help of Dennis Cronje, Cynosure Australia's managing director, to help with this one. 'Spider veins are usually harmless,' says Dennis. Long-term treatment options are listed below, but in the meantime, cover with this water-resistant spray (right).

Sclerotherapy: 'An injection of a special chemical damages the lining of the vein, causing the blood to reroute through healthier veins,' says Dennis. 'In a few weeks, treated veins fade.'

Laser therapy: '[This will] make the vein slowly fade and disappear,' explains Dennis. 'Blood vessels fade over several months, but they may not disappear completely.'

Q DOES A QUICK FIX FOR BIG PORES EXIST?

Big pores are an oily skin thing. There's too much of it, so it either pushes your pores to release the excess, or it pools in them. Daily dirt and grime can also make them appear bigger and darker. On top of cleansing morning and night, there are multiple products that reduce the size and, at the very least, the look of large pores. The one above blurs, mattifies and minimises. Yes, please!

Alicia also had to work on her upper body strength to perform Lara's daredevil stunts.

Work out LIKE LARA CROFT!

How the Tomb Raider star got in shape – Nordic style!

When many actresses sign up for an action role like Lara

Croft, it often means the start of a strict and rigorous eating regime. But Swedish actress Alicia Vikander believes in taking a more moderate approach. 'People don't eat!' she exclaims of her Hollywood peers. 'There's a lot of food everywhere and I'm like, "Where are the plates?" It's always like that. It's not like that in Sweden, where I come from.'

Eating healthily is important now that she needs to power up for her gruelling action stunts in Tomb Raider – a new take on the 2001 Angelina Jolie flick.

While running is one favourite workout, Alicia's main preparation comes from her background as a dancer, training for up to seven hours a day at the Royal Swedish Ballet School.

'I spent nine years in ballet school. That was my training,' the 28-year-old Oscar winner says. 'There's a lot you can explore with that.'

Growing up in Sweden has also shaped her relaxed approach to eating. 'You sit down and have a meal and celebrate properly,' says Alicia, who loves cooking up hearty 'stews or moussaka or chilli,' for her friends.

And it seems more and more people around the world are also looking to the Scandinavian lifestyle to improve their health and fitness. 'It's a formula of an outdoorsy active lifestyle, a national diet of fresh fish, and an appreciation of all things baked,' Swedish fitness blogger Faya Nilsson explains.

Faya says the Swedes also like fresh herbs and spices – a healthy low-calorie method for adding flavour to simple foods. 'We're total cake snobs and take baking very seriously,' Faya adds. 'All things in moderation is very much our ethos.'

Eat like a Scandinavian

Moderation is key with this diet. Breakfast might be eggs scrambled with herbs, followed by a lentil salad for lunch and a dinner of salmon with potato, tomato and greens.

TIP

While berries are an ideal snack, the occasional slice of cake is also allowed!

'I see my dance education as my artistic foundation,' Alicia says of her ballet training

Beat the heat!

With summer soaring to record high temperatures, it's little wonder many of us are looking for ways to cool down. But a simple trick could be as easy as changing the size of your meals! The Red Cross recommends eating smaller meals more often to avoid feeling overheated. Double the cool factor by sticking to cold foods, like salads and fruit.

TAKE A TIP FROM FERGIE

Blend up the star mum's fave treat for a delicious and nutritious hit

For a quick pick-me-up, try this delicious smoothie recipe from Fergie's nutritionist Carrie Wiatt. Blend a frozen banana with a cup of frozen strawberries, one cup of frozen blueberries, 2 tbsp almond butter, 1 tbsp of ground flaxseeds and 2 cups of unsweetened almond milk. Blueberries make a great low-GI sweetener, while strawberries are high in fibre and flaxseeds provide extra protein and essential fats.

CHEAT'S TIRAMISU GELATO

INGREDIENTS

- 1 tbsp instant coffee granules
- 1/3 cup hot water
- 1/2 cup Kahlua liqueur
- 395g can condensed milk
- 300ml thickened cream
- 250g tub mascarpone
- 500g pack sponge finger biscuits
- 2 tbsp drinking chocolate, plus extra for dusting
- Fresh raspberries, to serve

METHOD

1 Line a 6-cup-capacity loaf pan with plastic wrap. In a jug, stir coffee into hot water to dissolve. Add Kahlua and cool. 2 In a large bowl, using an electric mixer, beat condensed milk, cream and mascarpone together until thick and doubled in volume. Beat in 3/4 of the cooled coffee mixture. Partially fold in drinking chocolate. 3 Line base of pan with half the sponge fingers. Drizzle with half the reserved coffee mixture. Pour in gelato mixture. Top with a layer of the remaining biscuits. Drizzle with remaining coffee mixture. Cover with plastic wrap and freeze 4 hours or overnight. 4 Remove from pan and discard plastic. Cut into slices. Dust with extra drinking chocolate and scatter with raspberries to serve.

TIP

If you have a coffee machine at home, use 2 shots of strong espresso coffee in place of instant. Accompany with whipped cream for added decadence.

- 2 cups (about 2) mango, chopped

METHOD

1 In a large bowl, using an electric mixer, beat coconut milk and 1/2 cup sugar together until sugar dissolves. Beat in zest.

2 Pour into the chilled bowl of an ice-cream machine and churn following manufacturer's instructions (about 40 minutes). 3 In a small saucepan, combine extra sugar and water. Stir over low heat until sugar dissolves. Simmer 2 minutes then remove from heat. Stir in glucose and lime juice. 4 In a blender, combine syrup with mango. Process until pureed. Partially fold through ice-cream. Pour into a 6-cup freezer container. Freeze 4 hours or until firm. Serve in scoops.

TIP

This coconut milk base is the perfect ice-cream solution for those on a dairy-free diet.

TIP

Homemade ice-cream is perfect for those on a gluten-free diet, as many commercially produced ice-creams contain wheat-based thickeners, emulsifiers and colours.

YOGHURT, BERRY & WHITE CHOCOLATE RIPPLE

INGREDIENTS

- 2 cups plain yoghurt
- 2 cups reduced-fat Greek yoghurt
- 1/2 cup caster sugar, plus 2/3 cup extra
- 1/4 cup liquid glucose syrup
- 300g frozen mixed berries, thawed
- 2 tbsp lemon juice
- 150g white chocolate, melted
- 125g fresh raspberries

METHOD

1 In a large bowl whisk yoghurts, 1/2 cup sugar and syrup together. Pour into the chilled bowl of an ice-cream machine and churn following manufacturer's instructions (about 40 minutes).

2 In a blender or food processor, combine mixed berries with extra sugar and juice. Process until smooth. Strain through fine sieve into a large bowl. 3 Line a tray with baking paper. Spread melted white chocolate in a thin layer over paper. Scatter raspberries evenly over. Chill 10 minutes until set. Break into small pieces. 4 Fold berry puree and raspberry chocolate through thick yoghurt mixture. Pour into a 6-cup freezer container. Smooth surface and cover with plastic wrap. Freeze 4 hours or until firm. Serve in scoops.

Is Lauren

Maybe not!

The controversial fourth season of Married at First Sight has reached explosive heights, both on and off the screen, and OK! can reveal the truth behind much of the drama is not quite as it appears.

The most eyebrow-raising scandal to emerge from the show so far is undoubtedly the alleged car chase between Scarlett, 28, and production, which ended abruptly when she slammed into a police car. 'Some people just attract it, don't they?' says fellow bride Nadia, 36, of the incident. Channel Nine has released a statement explaining that Scarlett was being followed 'to ensure her safety', and had denied claims the 'aspiring author' was held against her wishes, a situation the cast would never find themselves in, according to Alene, 31. 'In our contract, it actually says we can terminate if we no longer want to be part of the show,' she explains.

It appears leaving the series couldn't happen quick enough for Scarlett, who exited the show after her match with stripper Michael turned sour - but not before being involved in a texting scandal with castmate Jonathan, 29! Scarlett assures OK! that the texts were harmless, and there wasn't any 'cheating' involved. 'Jonathan and I are just friends, I was never attracted to him,' she insists.

However, as viewers know, wife-swapping is a real possibility on this show, as Jonathan's wife Cheryl has made a surprise return with jilted groom Andrew 'Jonesy' J, 38, and all appears to be heading in the right direction - or is it?

HIND THE HIT SHOW!

The firefighter tells OK! that Chez is in fact 'definitely not' his type. 'We have different values and ideals... She's, I guess, at that stage where it's a big issue to spend a lot of time with your appearance,' he reveals.

The second-chancers reportedly had an epic falling out during Cheryl's hometown date, where Andrew was escorted out of a bar after 'chucking ice' at the 25-year-old and her friends.

It's a shocking tale that sounds all too similar to the altercation said to have occurred on Andrew's wedding night, where an alcohol-fuelled dispute caused Lauren to become the program's first runaway bride. 'We weren't intoxicated,' Andrew tells OK!. 'I'm not sure what happened, she still hasn't told me in plain English.' Nevertheless, he does say the night wasn't a complete loss, as he kicked on with pals and Lauren's bridesmaids!

While insiders reveal another wife could soon check out of the experiment, all eyes are on Nadia after her hubby Anthony, 33, unveiled his 'aggressive' side at a group dinner, where some cast members claim he 'bullied' Cheryl. 'To have a man be quite old-school with his mentality and the way he treats women was quite confronting for me,' Nadia shares.

Meanwhile, newlyweds Nick, 29, and Sharon, 31, are also tackling some tough times as the truth about his past fondness for drinking and strip joints has emerged. But while Sharon's twin sister Michelle should be focusing on her issues with hubby Jesse, 31, she is seemingly caught up in Sharon's marriage and is said to have become a 'third wheel' in her sister's relationship.

Who will stay together and who will be the next couple to exit? Prepare for the next shock!

Simon & Alene STEAMY BETWEEN THE SHEETS!

Alene tells OK! that life was pretty sweet for her and Simon, 39, after his makeover. 'The sexual attraction skyrocketed,' she laughs, saying that she would've been happy to head straight for the bedroom, but Simon had other plans. 'I wish! But he wanted to show off his new hair to the boys,' she chuckles.

'He came out looking so hot!' says Alene of Simon's new hairdo. 'It was a turning point'

'So much was going on in our personal lives,' admits Lama, 34, of 'banging heads' with cousin Sarah, 33. Lama's partner David was recently in a motorbike accident. 'He was pretty much broken from top to toe,' she tells.

Mark and Chris

'Chris has been my rock these last couple of years,' says Mark, 32, who separated from the mother of his two children - Luke, five, and Fabian, four - 15 months ago. Newlywed Chris, 33, says the school pals' closeness will make them 'hard to beat'.

Brett and Marie

This married duo are all about the win. 'Confident' Brett, 35, will ruffle feathers, reveals fellow contender Mark. As for Marie, 38, she admits that, despite also having her eye on the prize, 'there were times I was ready to pull my hair out!'

Valerie and Courtney

Courtney, 29, tells OK! the show brought out a side of her mum, Valerie, 61, she'd never seen before. 'My mum's not an emotional person whatsoever, [so] when I saw her break down it was hard to watch,' she admits.

Expect major waterworks from these young'uns. 'There were lots of tears from Demi and I,' shares Caitie. 'I think it was an age thing [both are 22]. We just didn't handle it very well.'

Mell and Cyn

'When people meet us they tend to judge us as pretentious, stuck-up cows,' admits Cyn, 42, who along with her friend of more than 20 years, Mell, 40, have been dubbed the 'housewives' of the series.

Contestant turns on the judges

'THE SCORING WAS RIGGED!'

PETE AND MANU ARE IN THE FIRING LINE

According to Queensland contender Alyse, all may not be as it seems when it comes to the scores being handed out by judges Manu Feildel and Pete Evans.

The 30-year-old says that, at times, she was left baffled by the 'confusing' critiques the celeb chefs served up during Group 2's instant restaurant round.

'I think there were definitely some scores in there [where] I thought something was just terrible and Pete would give it a [high score],' she shares.

Her reasoning for the inconsistent scoring, she says, was due to the fact Pete has a soft spot.

'I think Manu doesn't let anything cloud his judgement, whereas Pete would take things into consideration like the fact that it was a family recipe... I think it's easier to pull on Pete's heartstrings than it is to pull on Manu's,' she explains.

So does Alyse think that Pete may have had his favourites? 'Yeah, maybe,' she admits, adding, 'I don't know what it is, I was just sometimes a bit confused by the feedback.'

BOOZY BEHAVIOUR!

From fiery feuds to one contender even throwing up, Group 2 is certainly bringing plenty of controversy to the competition. Sydney sisters Kelsey, 22, and Amanda, 36, who threatened to quit the show due to the turmoil around the table, say there was much more to the antics than meets the eye. 'There was a lot of drinking,' shares Kelsey. And yep, drinking games were included! 'Whoever did the best drinking deserved the best scores.' So who won? 'Definitely Matt and Alyse,' she reveals. Interesting!

'MY MARRIAGE IS ON THE ROCKS'

THE REAL HOUSEWIVES OF SYDNEY
CAST MEMBER OPENS UP TO OK!

While viewers are eagerly anticipating the arrival of The Real Housewives of Sydney, the stars of the show and their families have already watched the first three episodes – and businesswoman Lisa Oldfield says her husband of 16 years, former politician David Oldfield, isn't pleased with what he's seen.

'He's very unhappy, to the point where we aren't talking at the moment,' the 41-year-old tells OK!. 'He feels he's been marginalised and emasculated.'

It isn't the first time the Sydney parents to sons Henry, six, and Albert, four, have encountered problems as a result of the show. 'We were going through a rough patch [during filming],' Lisa reveals. 'The show magnified it, but it had been festering for a while.' Lisa adds that season two might be off the table for her as a result. 'I'd do it, but I don't think David will like me to do it,' she explains.

Lisa describes her RHOS experience with castmates, including (from left) Melissa Tkautz, Athena X Levendi, Matty Samael and Nicole O'Neil as 'post-menopausal schoolies'

Did David sleep with One Nation's Pauline Hanson? 'She always denied [it] until she was selling a book. It was pre-me – I wouldn't care,' says Lisa.

1. IS BROKE?

While she may look the part (thanks to a rented mansion!) one of the ladies is reportedly broke. A source claims the lady in question 'doesn't have one dollar to her name'.

2. QUILTS?

The Housewives' trip to Singapore turned so nasty during their time there that it broke a tough-as-nails cast member, who made a tearful plea to the head of production to exit her three-year contract.

3. HAS A ROVING EYE?

It's not all happy families, according to an insider, who says there's a special someone on the side who could cause major headaches for one of the Housewives!

Suits stars on... KISSING CO-STARS & OUR FUTURE PRINCESS!

RICK HOFFMAN AND SARAH RAFFERTY CHAT TO OK! ABOUT CAST SECRETS!

On their recent trip to Australia, Suits stars Rick Hoffman, 46, and Sarah Rafferty, 44, who play fan favourites Louis Litt and Donna Paulsen, gave OK! the inside word on the hit legal drama...

Sarah, you have the very lucky job of kissing Harvey Specter [played by Gabriel]. So how would you rate him as a kisser?

Harvey is the best kisser ever. O-M-G crying-smiley face. But I'm a better kisser. I win kissing.

Would you like to see Harvey and Donna end up together?

Sarah: Donna and Harvey have a unique bond. What they have together they aren't ready to deal with... I like it when it's flawed, and really real and complex.

Who would you say is most like their Suits character?

Rick: I'm not as cool as Louis, in saying that... I'm more grounded. He's a cartoon character.

Sarah: I'd say Meghan [Markle] is most like her character [Rachel].

Both of your characters have a huge fan base. Would either of you consider a spin-off?

Sarah: I'm going to say yes!

Rick: The fact that everyone keeps asking... sure, of course.

Welcome to Australia! How are your Aussie accents?

Sarah: Terrible. I'm not even going to try to do it.

Rick: I do my friend's best British accent for that one...

Sarah: Which is nowhere near it!

You aren't here scouting for possible Suits locations?

Sarah: We wish. We love it here and Gabriel [Macht] has a house here, so it would be perfect.

Would you bunk together? Is the cast that close?

Sarah: We go on holidays together; we go to each other's weddings. We're like family.

Rick: There's a lot of love, [but] like a family there are times where we annoy each other.

ROYAL TIES

'It's very exciting... and I'm happy for her,' Sarah says of her co-star Meghan Markle dating Prince Harry.

CHOCOLATE BATH LAUGHS

'Who are these morons?' Rick chuckles when told about the Bachie bath scene (above). Would mudding fan Louis ever consider it? 'Absolutely,' he replied.

February 21

AQUARIUS

JAN 21 - FEB 19

Keep your mind focused on what you want instead of what is. If you're concerned about your career or the fact there isn't enough money then you need to work on a plan of action to turn things around. It's time to discover what you really want - and how to go about achieving those goals.

This week's mantra:
I focus on outcomes.

PISCES

FEB 20 - MAR 20

You need to start paying attention to your appearance. Being a good person with a great personality is fantastic, but it won't be enough to create the success you want right now. Presenting a polished you to the world will create wonders. Do what it takes to be confident and see what you attract!

This week's mantra:
I put myself first.

ARIES

MAR 21 - APR 20

In terms of your career, get a clear understanding of how things work and you'll be able to create positive outcomes. Grab opportunities to expand your identity in the world - promotion, recognition or a change in lifestyle is coming. Anything could happen, but communication is important.

This week's mantra:
I'm ready for success.

TAURUS

APR 21 - MAY 21

Being too trusting will result in some big lessons this week. It's a case of learning from the past so you stop repeating patterns. Being idealistic is all very well and good, but seeing others for who they really are will help you to be more discerning. Everything in life is about learning the lesson.

This week's mantra:
I'm discerning.

GEMINI

MAY 22 - JUN 21

Think before you act or open your mouth. Everything is pushing you to make changes in all areas of your life, so it's the ideal time for a total overhaul. Everyone will be more than happy to give you their opinions, as they think they know best, but trust what feels right for you.

This week's mantra:
I trust myself.

CANCER

JUN 22 - JUL 23

Write a list of the changes you wish to make and then take action. Keeping things secret will prove challenging, but that's what the universe is suggesting for you right now. You'll end up kicking yourself if you talk too soon. This is your week, so make the most of it.

This week's mantra:
It's my time.

LEO

JUL 24 - AUG 23

If what you're doing isn't creating the outcomes you want then it's time for a reality check. Watch out for some romantic hiccups created by misunderstandings. Whatever you do, don't jump to conclusions - it's important to bite your tongue and wait for an explanation.

This week's mantra:
I wait and listen.

VIRGO

AUG 24 - SEP 23

Expressing your creative side will prove interesting as far as your career is concerned. Just don't be afraid to speak your mind. Sitting on the fence may prove safe, but it won't get you what you want. If things don't suit you then it's important to say no - don't let anyone force you into anything.

This week's mantra:
I will stay strong.

LIBRA

SEP 24 - OCT 23

Only by putting your cards on the table can you get things sorted this week. Jupiter will be stirring things up, but that's not a bad thing. By seeing everything and everyone clearly you'll be in the best position to create change. Just be prepared for people to be focused on themselves, not you.

This week's mantra:
I'm ready for change.

SCORPIO

OCT 24 - NOV 23

Having some time out to step back and reassess would be a good idea. You need to start working on strategies to break patterns that no longer work for you. This is your year for success and your career is what you need to be focused on. Try to be as logical and practical as possible.

This week's mantra:
I rethink things.

SAGITTARIUS

NOV 23 - DEC 21

Your life or career is about to take a new direction. Many of you will use this week's energy to get your home situation in order. Whatever you decide, make sure you keep a lid on your emotions as things could become challenging and conversations could become quite heated.

This week's mantra:
Time for the new.

CAPRICORN

DEC 22 - JAN 20

Believing in yourself and acknowledging your talents is important, as is facing the truth regarding others. By owning the role you played in last year's challenges, you'll be in a position to learn from your mistakes. Finding what you really want to do will give your passions an outlet.

This week's mantra:
I believe in me!

Since pictures emerged of Tom Hiddleston sporting an 'I heart T.S.' tank top at Taylor Swift's Independence Day party last year, he's been the butt of many jokes. But now the 36-year-old Brit wants to clear things up. 'The truth is, it was the Fourth of July and a public holiday and we were playing a game and I slipped and hurt my back. I wanted to protect the graze from the sun and said, "Does anyone have a T-shirt?"' tells Tom. 'And one of her friends said, "I've got this." And we all laughed about it. It was a joke... among friends.' Sure, Tom. Sure.

REALITY BITES

Winona Ryder and Ethan Hawke were back in each other's arms two decades after they first joined forces.

THELMA & LOUISE

They're the OG BFFs, so when Susan Sarandon and Geena Davis caught up for the film's 25th anniversary, we were giddy!

CRUEL INTENTIONS

The 'secret society' trio love a good reunion, and we must say Selma Blair, Reese Witherspoon and Sarah Michelle Gellar haven't changed a bit since 1999.

Our fave casts... REUNITED!

THESE CO-STAR CATCH-UPS ARE GUARANTEED TO MAKE YOUR HEART MELT...

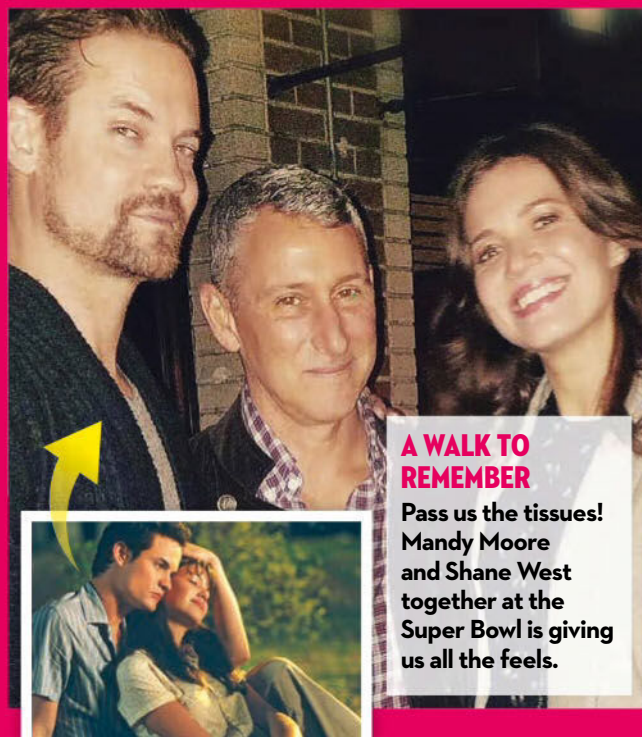

MAID IN MANHATTAN

We can't believe how much Jennifer Lopez's film son Tyler Posey has grown up since 2002!

PRETTY WOMAN

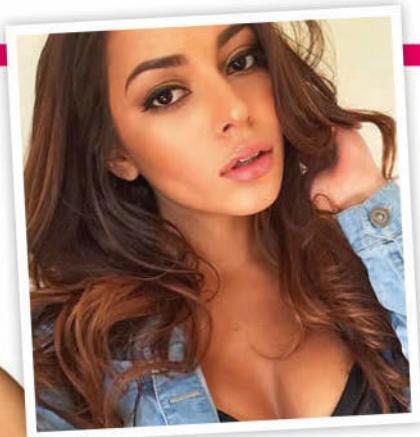

No wonder Julia Roberts and Richard Gere were all smiles at their 25-year catch-up - it's still the best rom-com of all time.

A WALK TO REMEMBER

Pass us the tissues! Mandy Moore and Shane West together at the Super Bowl is giving us all the feels.

Former America's Next Top Model contestant Krisliana Rodriguez has slammed Rita Ora, 26, claiming she had her kicked off the show because they share the same ex - Calvin Harris! 'There was definitely some rivalry happening with her, which I didn't understand,' says the aspiring model, 25. 'It was more like a Mean Girl[s] situation - I would say Rita was definitely Regina George!'

JEALOUS RITA outs ANTM contestant!

Selena & The Weeknd THEY'RE HER PARENTS 2.0!

Do women subconsciously seek partners who remind them of their dads? Ask Selena Gomez! A side-by-side comparison of the singer, 24, with new boyfriend The Weeknd, 27 (above right) and her mother and father in 1992 has gone viral because of the couples' uncanny resemblance. Most fans think it's all in good fun, but some are urging Selena to run for the hills. Says one: 'He could be a lost member of her dad's family!' Paging Dr Freud...

INSIDE THE...

Grammys swag bag

Sure, stars snag tons of cool stuff - but the ones who attended the Grammys had to sort through a lot of bizarre items to get it. Those who performed or presented at the February 12 awards show, like James Corden (right), took home a goody bag - worth $40,000! - stuffed with sweet scores, like a week-long stay at Southern California's Golden Door spa, worth $11,500. But they also got some strange swag...

FREE PIZZA GIFT CARD

In case celebs can't come up with the $20.

TOILET TROUBLE GAME

What to get the person who has everything.

LAMPSHADE

It just screams sophistication. And 'regift!'

CPR KIT

Nothing says music royalty like first-aid essentials!

ADULT BIB

BeBibs protect customers from various 'perils'. Just not fashion disasters.

BUTT MASSAGER MAT

Well, that's one less thing for personal assistants to suffer through.

THE MIX

Kylie puts Josh in the shade by looking her sexy best in a new ad campaign

Kylie gets THE LAST LAUGH

She recently split from fiancé Joshua Sasse, but Kylie Minogue isn't going to let a broken heart get her down! The 48-year-old looked hot to trot in a new campaign for eyewear brand Specsavers in the UK, showing off her enviable body as she posed casually on a bed - bedecked in spectacles, of course.

Kylie has definitely come out on top after the shock break-up - her 29-year-old former beau's career has taken a nosedive since he allegedly cheated on the Aussie sweetheart, with his new TV show No Tomorrow getting canned after only one season. 'It's just one bit of bad news after another for him at the moment,' says an insider. 'He was hoping he could build a profile in Los Angeles off the back of the show as very few people there relate to him as Kylie's ex.'

Oh, well. It looks like it's back to the old drawing board, Josh!

Josh with No Tomorrow co-star Tori Anderson... the show's been axed

AWKS! PHOTOSHOP FAIL

You'd think showcasing the beauty of seven stunning models from around the world on the cover of Vogue would negate the need for using any Photoshop, but it looks like someone at US Vogue got a little overzealous with the retouching in this shot. Check out US model Gigi Hadid's overstretched hand - whoops!

KoKo's FREEDOM PARTY

After divorcing Lamar Odom in December last year, Khloé Kardashian has finally got around to changing her name back. And what better way to celebrate than a cake replica of your driver's licence, iced with your revenge bod weight - aka 'skinny bitch'!

IT'S IN THEIR GENES

THE STAR SIBLINGS WHO ARE ALSO WINNING AT LIFE

SCARLETT & HUNTER JOHANSSON

ScarJo's twin brother is in politics and worked on both of Barack Obama's presidential campaigns.

TAYLOR & AUSTIN SWIFT

Tay's younger brother is an up-and-coming actor, who's already scored roles in Live by Night and I.T.

JENNIFER & LYNDA LOPEZ

JLo's younger sister has made a name for herself in broadcast journalism and even won an Emmy in 2001!

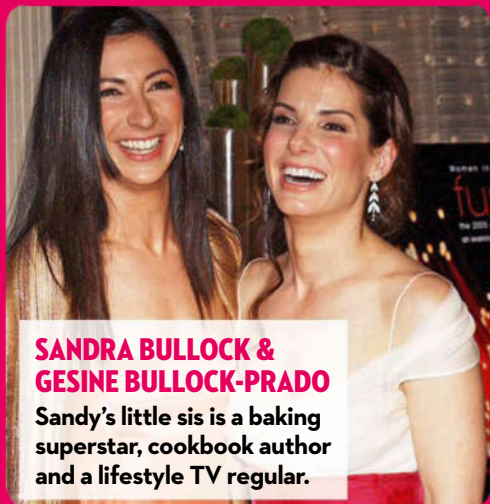

TIM & JIMMY ROBARDS

The Bachelor star's little bro has also inherited the looks and a love of fitness!

RACHEL & KAYLEEN McADAMS

Make-up artist Kayleen counts stars Sofia Vergara, Jessica Biel and Zooey Deschanel as clients.

SANDRA BULLOCK & GESINE BULLOCK-PRADO

Sandy's little sis is a baking superstar, cookbook author and a lifestyle TV regular.

SIENNA & SAVANNAH MILLER

Sienna's older sibling is a fashion designer and the sisters once shared the label Twenty8Twelve.

The OK! AWARDS

LONER OF THE WEEK

Looks like Justin Bieber needs to pay people to be his pals these days... While playing pool solo at an LA pub recently, JB forked out for drinks to get the guys at the next table to have a game with him!
